STUDENT COUNCIL

Introduction

Student council plays a vital role in developing, promoting of student activities, improving quality of student's life and fostering greater interaction with the students and well-being of the students.

Student Council exists to represent the voice of the students, promote their ideas and advocate their views and interests. It Provides aid to the students, the institution and the community

Student council provides a representative structure through the students involve in the affairs of the college, social activities, community opportunities, leadership, scholarship, human relations and promotes civic responsibility

Students' Council at Aarupadai Veedu Medical College & Hospital is a Unit selected by the students themselves under the supervision of faculty members. Each Student Council works for a one year period in streamlining the co-curricular and extra-curricular activities of the institution for the benefit of all the students.

The council acts as a mediator to share students' ideas, interests, and concerns with teachers. In addition, it plays a major role in raising fund for the conduction of Annual Cultural, Literary and Sports event. Further, all the functions of the institution in a particular year are being organized by the Student Council.

Objectives of the Student Council

- To enhance communication between students, management and staff.
- To promote an environment conducive to educational and personal development
- To promote friendship and respect among pupils
- To support the management and staff in the development of the college
- To represent the views of the students on matters of general concern to them.

A Student Council will identify activities that it would like to be involved in organizing, although the final decision on the activities of a Student Council should be agreed with college management. A Student Council should not through its activities interfere with or detract from, the authority of college management or the teaching staff of the college. It is therefore not a function of a Student Council to discuss or comment on matters relating to the employment or professional affairs of the Dean, teachers and other staff of the college, or to become involved in any issues that fall within their professional competence.

The Student Council and the Management

The college shall establish and maintain procedures for the purpose of informing about the activities in the college.

The college shall encourage and help students to set up a Student Council and shall assist a Student Council when established.

The college shall draw up rules for the establishment of a Student Council which shall provide for the selection of members and the dissolution of a Council.

The college will have a role in considering the rules governing meetings of the Student Council, and the conduct of its affairs.

Management will give active support to the student council. This could involve designating a student advisor in the college to communicate with the Council on an on-going basis, as well as assisting the Council in drawing up a constitution and in planning and organizing its activities.

The Student Council and the Dean

The role of the Dean is of central importance in the establishment and operation of a Student Council. In Assisting the Management in the development of college policy, and in working with teachers and to implement it at the day-to-day level, the Dean is centrally placed in all aspects of the college's operations.

In the initial stages, the Dean, together with the other teachers, will assist in the development of a Student Council in several ways, for example, by discussing with students the role of a Student Council and the role of individual representatives on the Council and by advising on an appropriate constitution or statement of objectives. As the Council develops and begins to expand its role, the Dean will assist in guiding the Council's development, so as to allow for a constructive and purposeful Council.

More generally, the Dean can promote a college culture which recognizes the potentially valuable input that students can make, through a Student Council, into the development of the college.

The Student Council and Faculty

Development a spirit of partnership and co-operation between a Student Council and teachers has benefits for both. The Student Council can play an important role in recognizing and supporting the work of teachers. Similarly, the interest and support of teachers will be of great value to a Student Council, particularly during the early stages of its development.

It is generally desirable for a member of the teaching staff to attend the meeting of the Council. The support and guidance offered by a teacher will be very useful to a Council when planning its activities, and providing for a teacher to attend Council meetings will help to build a co-operative and good working relationship between students and staff of the college.

Functions of the Student Council

The functions and activities of a Student Council should support the aims and objectives of the Council and promote the development of the college and the welfare of its students. In planning and undertaking activities during the course of the college year, the Council should:

Work closely with the management, teachers and students, Consult regularly with students in the college, and Involve as many students as possible in the activities of the Council

There is a wide range of activities of benefit to the college community which a Student Council may wish to undertake, some of which are outlined below:

1. Representing the views of the Student body to the college management

This should be one of the fundamental aims of every Council. It involves talking and listening to the student body, considering their views and concerns, and discussing these with the college managements on behalf of the students.

2. Promoting good communications within the college

Improving communication within the college community is a shared responsibility and a Student Council can contribute to this process. Making presentations at staff meetings to keep staff informed of activities, keeping a Student Council notice-board or organizing a regular newsletter is just some way the Council can communicate with the students and staff.

3. Supporting the educational development and progress of students.

The Student Council can contribute to the learning environment for students in the college by, for example, setting up study groups for students in exam classes or homework clubs, or organizing lunchtime activities such as language clubs.

4. Assisting with induction and/or mentoring for new first-year students.

Starting college life is a challenging new experience for 1st-year students. During the mentoring programme, senior students help new students to find their feet can help their integration into the college community.

5. Contributing to the development of college policy.

The Student Council can actively contribute to the development of college policy in a wide range of areas such as bullying, uniform requirements, behaviour code and extra-curricular activities. The Council could form sub-committees to consider individual policy issues.

6. Assisting in college sports, Literary, Fine arts and cultural activities.

Student Council can assist in organizing and developing sports Literary, Fine arts and cultural activities within the college, including, for example, sports days and drama or musical events.

7. Assisting with or organizing fund-raising events for charity.

Student Councils can organize events both within the college and involving the wider community, for the purposes of raising money for designated charities.

8. Bridging with Student Councils in other colleges.

It may be useful for a Student Council to bridge with Student Councils in other colleges, particularly in the organization of sporting and cultural activities and when fund-raising for charity. An existing Student Council could have a useful role in helping and advising a newly formed Student Council in another college.

10. Organizing Annual Day

Organizing Annual Day, every year preceding which activities weekly by Annual Literary, Cultural, Fine arts and Sports events shall take place, and the prize distribution shall take place during Annual Day function.
